Download here Q: Custom div width and height in percentages over 100% in mobile webviews I'm trying to style a web page in HTML5, using the new webviews in Ionic. I have an "img" tag that I want to use as the background for my webview, and then have a background color around it. For this, I'm setting a div as the background and padding as the padding of the "img". The problem with this is that I need the div to be an exact proportion (50% width, 50% height). However, if I do this the div does not grow to the full width of the webpage in mobile. Here is what my code looks like:
